From April 1, 2010 Child Allowance program launched

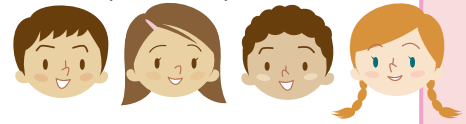

Outline of Child Allowance

- Eligible recipients The father or mother (whoever is paying the bulk of childrearing expenses) of a child born on or after April 2, 1995 (children in the third year of junior high or below) as of April 1, 2010
- Allowance amount 13,000 yen a month per child for the 2010 fiscal year
- Payment schedule Currently planned for June, October, and February (payments for the months preceding the payment month will be provided as a lump sum)
- First payment Those who were receiving the previous child allowance need not apply again (payments will continue automatically). Others will receive their first payment the month after they submit their application. (There may be some exceptions to these rules based on revisions to the program.)
- Income limitation None

Application procedures

Households with children thought to be eligible will be sent information on application procedures, approval request form, revised amount approval request form, and a return envelope in mid-April.

- Open on Sunday May 9 (Sun) 9:00-17:00
- Venue Komaki City Hall South Bldg
1F, Child Welfare Division counter TEL 76-1129
- Deadline for applications to revised program September 30 (Thu), 2010

Note Not all families who receive application materials will be eligible to receive the allowance.

- ① If the mother or father (whoever is paying the bulk of childrearing expenses) does not have a resident registration in Komaki
→ The person paying the bulk of childrearing expenses should submit a living separate parent application in the location of their resident registration
- ② If the mother or father whoever is paying the bulk of childrearing expenses is a foreign citizen without Japan residency permission (has a short-term visa, entertainment visa, or expired visa)
→ Apply for the childrearing allowance once you have gone through the procedures to change the status/term of the visa

Use of Komakki, the Komaki City mascot

Komakki made his entrance during the Komaki 50 Year Commemorative Project. The Komaki mascot joins us again this year. We hope that Komaki residents will make use of Komakki to promote the city as well.

As I looked out on the city from Mt. Komaki, I realized that Komaki needs me to promote it! I'm going to do my best for our great city, and I hope you all will help!

Komakki, the mascot of Komaki City

● To use Komakki images

Submit an application stating the purpose, method, and other information on how you wish to use the character to the Secretarial Section by post, email, or fax.

● To rent the Komakkie costume

May Dish

Kashiwa mochi (oak-leaf pounded rice cakes)

The kashiwa is a type of oak leaf that does not fall to the ground when the new leaves come out, making it a symbol of fertility and children. Families eat kashiwamochi on Children's Day to wish that their children will grow up strong and healthy.

Ingredients (serves eight)

- joshinko rice flour.....200g
- Starch 2 tbsp
- Sugar 2 tbsp
- Water280 cc
- Oak leaf 8
- Bean paste160g

Directions

- ① Divide the red bean paste into eight portions and roll into balls
- ② Put the joshinko rice flour, starch, sugar, and water in a microwave-safe bowl and stir.
Cover with plastic wrap and heat for about four and a half minutes (for 500w microwave ovens)
- ③ Once the mixture is heated, place the dough on a wet towel and knead well
- ④ Return the dough to the microwave-safe bowl, cover with plastic wrap and heat for about three and a half minutes (for 500w microwave ovens)
- ⑤ Once the dough is heated, poke it with a wooden pestle, then knead by hand until smooth.
- ⑥ Split the dough into eight parts, insert the red bean paste, and wrap each in a kashiwa leaf once they are cool.
